SECRETARY CHURCHILL READY FOR BATTLE

Declares Time Has Come for Crown, House of Commons to Move Against Lords.

LONDON, March 31.—The official opposition amendment to Premier Asquith's resolutions on the veto power of the house of lords was moved in the house of commons today by Sir Robert Bannatyne Ninlay.

It declares in favor of a strong and efficient second chamber, expresses willingness to consider proposals for the reform of the upper house, but declines to proceed with the government proposals, which would destroy the usefulness of any second chamber.

Winston Spencer Churchill, the home secretary, made an important contribution to the debate. He declared when the veto resolutions were disposed of, they would advance with the budget, regardless of the consequences. Unless the house of commons carried the budget, it was idle, he said, to look to the king or to the country to carry the bill, but he predicted that the proper time and under the proper circumstances they would succeed in carrying both the veto and budget measures to the steps of the throne.

Mr. Churchill closed with a significant statement. "The time for action," he said, "has arrived. Since the lords have used their veto to affront the prerogative of the crown and have injured the rights of the commons, it has become necessary that the crown and the commons, acting together, should restore the balance of the constitution and restrict forever the veto power of the house of lords."

Mr. Churchill's declaration was met with a storm of applause. The commons, it was said, had been waiting for the crown and commons, it has become necessary that the crown and the commons, acting together, should restore the balance of the constitution and restrict forever the veto power of the house of lords.

VOTES WERE PURCHASED AT VARYING FIGURES
Almost Anything From $100 to $506 Was Price of Pittsburg Councilman.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 31.—Brand, formerly president of the common council, who was brought from the penitentiary to testify before the grand jury today, contributed his full confession to help the graft probers in trailing the "men higher up."

Brand's confession and that of Charles Stewart leaves but one more important witness to be heard, it is said. This witness is Councilman Hugh Ferguson, who was at the courthouse today seeking opportunity to tell his story.

More directors and employees of banks were before the jury today, as were also two young women, Bessie Curran and Nellie Sherlock, telephone operators at the Farmers' National Deposit bank.

Three more councilmen took the "immunity bath" by pleading no defenses to charges of taking bribes. These were Samuel Foster, who admitted getting $400 from Stewart for his vote on the bank ordinance; T. O. Atkinson, who confessed to taking bribes of $100 from Dr. W. H. Weber for his vote on a street ordinance; and $500 from Stewart to support the bank ordinance; and John McCartney, a former selectman, who said he got $400 for his vote on both ordinances.

Under threats of commitment to jail, fourteen of the men recently indicted appeared today with bondsmen, who gave bail of $5000 each for their appearance in court later.

IMPORTERS PREPARING TO ENTER PROTEST
SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The announcement that Port Collector Stratton will assess the maximum tariff on all goods imported from China on and after April 1 and collect the highest duty on the merchandise in bonded warehouses on which the tax has not been paid stirred commercial circles yesterday and importers, it is said, are preparing to enter protests.

Oriental merchandise valued at almost $2,000,000 is stored in bonded warehouses here, and the steamship Sierrita is due Friday morning, and will after the maximum tariff goes into effect. It may mean, it is estimated, an increased duty of $50,000 on the cargo.

The maximum duty which will be levied on imports from China is 25 per cent higher than the minimum, which is based on the schedule fixed by the Payne tariff law. Should the action taken on the merchandise in the warehouse by Collector Stratton be sustained by the treasury department it will make a difference to Pacific coast importers of about $250,000.

MINING ACTIVITIES IN MONTANA
Special to The Tribune.
HELENA, Mont., March 31.—For filing the papers showing the increased capital stock of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, the state of Montana received $12,115—one of the largest on record. The purchase of the increased capitalization from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 is the result of the consummation of the so-called copper merger, it being the purpose of the Anaconda company to take over the property of Montana, the legality of the action, so far as Montana is concerned is not in the least doubtful. The Montana legislature at its last session had passed a law under which the famous New Jersey trust law, so called, with several additions which remove all limitations on the power of the state to acquire property, was authorized at a meeting of the stockholders held at Anaconda earlier in the week. The purchase of the increased capitalization was made possible by the existence of necessary papers, that so far as Montana's end is concerned, the merger is practically an assured fact.

James Breen of Spokane and A. S. Wright of St. Paul have purchased the Spotted Horse, perhaps the most famous horse in the world, for $100,000. The purchase price was not made public, but despite the fact that the property has been idle for several years, it is a fancy figure. The mine is responsible for the putting of several residents of Helena, Lewistown and other Montana cities, in the hands of the law. The Spotted Horse will be operated in connection with the Cumberland, a tramway connecting the former with the latter. The capacity of the mine is to be increased by 200 tons. Breen and Wright have taken over several properties in the first place among them, the test of a two-carload shipment. The East Helena smelter of ore taken from the 250-foot level. The returns were most satisfactory. The Chicago owners of a silp property are expected in Helena in the near future, and it is not improbable the whole property will be opened up. It being understood that arrangements have been tacitly completed for the necessary water rights for the mill, the high price asked for which is said to have been paid for the closing of this property, as well as the adjoining Spring Hill. A crew of men is also engaged in the Spring Hill, and it is not unlikely the properties will be operated jointly.

The mill at the Lookout mine in the Stemp district of this county is to be equipped immediately with a concentrator and cyanide plant, the necessity having been demonstrated by the fact that practically all values may be recovered. The Hooper Brothers, operating in the same vicinity, have encountered a silver-copper lead of much promise. High-grade ore is being sacked on the dump preparatory to shipment.

A beautiful bunch of girls and a big bunch, too, handsome in face and form, magnificently gowned, with stage settings and electric light effects that add to the beauty of the show, McIntyre and Heath. All these are "In Hayti," that new musical diversion by John J. McNally, with which McIntyre and Heath have captured the country this year, in opening performance of which was given at the Salt Lake theater on Thursday evening. A capacity audience was present.

There is not a dull moment "In Hayti." From the rise to the fall of the curtain there is something different all the time. And it goes with a hip, hip, hurrah all the time. It opens with music and dash and ginger, and it closes in the same way.

And the old pair, the old partners, who by the way, are playing their last season together, and they had a new vehicle in which to amuse and that they did amuse was demonstrated by the number of curtain calls.

Jimmy McIntyre knows how to catch the people. So does Tom Heath. And they please. And they are funny, and they make one forget the worries and cares of the world. "In Hayti" is a number of pretty song hits in the play, "Bambou Lane," sung by Marion Stanley and chorus, was splendidly given, as was the song, "Romance and Juliet," by Miss Stanley and Mr. Pratt. "Good-Bye, Miss Liberty," by Fletcher Norton and chorus, was likewise splendidly given, and all received merited applause. The stage setting in these two solos and duet was beautiful.

"In Hayti," of course, like all musical plays nowadays, has no plot, but plot does not figure when there is a handsome and a beautiful couple, and there are a number of pretty song hits in the play, "Bambou Lane," sung by Marion Stanley and chorus, was splendidly given, as was the song, "Romance and Juliet," by Miss Stanley and Mr. Pratt. "Good-Bye, Miss Liberty," by Fletcher Norton and chorus, was likewise splendidly given, and all received merited applause. The stage setting in these two solos and duet was beautiful.

This week's bill at the Mission, which opened Thursday, in the strongest, most varied and even a little different. Besides being a splendid bill, the management has added an act to the usual number. Augustus, a political playlet entitled "Politics and Petticoats." The sketch is deep and much significant meaning lies beneath the humor. It is a number of the kind yet produced on the Mission stage. John Conlon, a powerful political "boss," is a clever conception and admirably acted by Bert Robinson, as Harrison Berkeley, candidate for mayor, and Edith Forrest, the woman in the bill, this sketch was no one's money's worth.

Lawrence Crane, assisted by Miss May Crawford, appeared in a magical conception which is billed as "The Den of Mystery," a clever and highly-entertaining act. One feature of the act is a shapely young woman into a pickaninny, who appears in his birthday clothes with but small addition. Mr. Crane, an Irishman, has a good line of talk that aids him materially with his magic.

Whitford Stewart, the woman with a baritone voice, made a hit with several diversionary selections. Her remarkable voice is rich and far-reaching, and decidedly masculine.

Robust, "The Human Canary," aided by pictures of the various birds in their accustomed haunts, which he imitates, is a whistler of rare ability. His act is a perfect example of brought forth a great deal of applause.

William J. Coleman, monologist and singer, has a good line of high-class songs, and the latter being his own composition.

The Craigs have a diversified musical act that is full of harmonic melody better than any other act of this kind.

The picturegraph completes the highest class bill yet witnessed in Salt Lake for the money. Thursday's program was a most successful one, with the usual matinees.

"Hogan in Society," a sketch in which Bert Leslie is starred, is the headline act on next week's Orpheum bill, which will go into effect Sunday afternoon. Mr. Leslie, who has been in the city for some time, is a positive favorite in this city. His slang is regarded as the best and most expressive in use on the stage. The Orpheum's bill will continue until Saturday night.

Concluding with the performances this (Friday) evening, four of the strongest programs ever presented in this city will close at the Luna, Isis, Shubert and Elite theaters. On Saturday, an entire change of bill will be the feature at all the houses, and, as usual, some excellent programs have been arranged for.

"Standing room only" is the sign hung up in front of the box office at the Casino every performance. "The bill this week at this new playhouse is a good one. There are several headliner acts. Matinees daily.

The directors of the Salt Lake Symphony orchestra are very much gratified with the prospect of a successful concert, for indications are that it will be greeted with a record audience at the Colonial theater next Sunday afternoon.
